  - i. The Chairman as well as chairing the Executive Committee and other meetings, has prime responsibility for ensuring that the division is a well-organized, well managed and an active unit. The Chairman should be dedicated to the job, have good communication skills, have the ability to delegate key tasks and above all, be a person of integrity. Main Duties: The main duties of the Chairman are summarized as follows: • Provide leadership and management • Hold meetings • Uphold the bylaws/regulations of the division, county, and Official Guide • Plan ahead for the division • Uphold the mission, vision and values of the GAA.
  - ii. The Vice Chairman will preside as chairperson of meetings in the event the chairman is unable to attend. The vice chairman will play a support role to the chairman.
  - iii. The Secretary is the chief administrator. The duties are many and varied and call for a high degree of dedication. The Secretary has more to do with the practical running of the division than any other officer. He/she should be a good organizer, be methodical, and above all be reliable. The duties dovetail with those of the Chairman and it is essential that both officers work as a team of which the Secretary will very often be the more active person. Main Duties: Communication: - With clubs and officers, with the county Secretary and County Committee Meetings - Preparation for and follow up on assigned tasks, Accurate recording of meeting minutes Administration: - Correspondence and keeping records -Divisional Planning - Assisting in developing a divisional development plan
  - iv. The Treasurer has responsibility for the safekeeping of the funds of the division. He/she is responsible for recording all income and expenditure and for reporting on the financial position of the division to the Executive Committee on an on-going basis. It is important to note that the Treasurer does not have to be an accountant to perform this role. However, he/she must have the ability to record all financial transactions, control expenditure in the division, plan and assist in fundraising and provide regular reports to the Executive. The Treasurer must not commit the division to any expenditure for which prior approval has not been given and should also be in a position to give ample warning to the division should funds be dwindling. The main duties: Management of divisional accounts, keeping records, preparation of financial statements, preparing a financial budget, fundraising and sponsorship
  - v. Registrar: Registration is now facilitated on the on-line GAA Player and Member registration system, which is the only acceptable method of registering players and members with the GAA. Each Registrar is provided with a password to this system and therefore the Registrar needs access to broadband internet and have reasonable PC skills.
  - vi. PRO: Communications is one of the most important activities in the Association. The success of all units depends to some degree on the national and local image of the Association. There is always a need for a proper flow of information in the division. The main function of the PRO is to communicate with the general public on behalf of the division, presenting a positive image of the division and Cumann Lúthchleas Gael in the local community and beyond.

Remember:

1. PR is the practice of managing the flow of information between the division and the public.
2. The biggest mistake that a PRO can make is to assume that people know what is going on.

- vii. The Youth Officer should help each club within the division to develop a properly run youth program and organize training courses for coaches, mentors, and volunteers. Ensure, in as far as possible, that all Players, Coaches/Team mentors, Parents/Guardians, Officials and spectators adhere to the GAA Code of Best Practice for Youth Sport.
